Registered Nurse and/or Midwife (Nurse Home Visitor)
Australian Nurse Family Partnership
(Ongoing, fulltime - multiple positions available)

The Institute for Urban Indigenous Health (IUIH) was established to provide a coordinated and integrated approach to the planning, development and delivery of primary health care services to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander populations within the South East Queensland.

The Australian Nurse Family Partnership Program (ANFPP) is a program of sustained and scheduled home visiting that begins during the antenatal period and continues until the child is 2 years old. Based on the model developed by Professor David Olds in the USA, the AFNPP involves nurses and/or midwives working in partnership with women who are pregnant with an Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander baby, through an intensive home visiting program of evidence based interventions.

The ANFPP offers Nurse Home Visitors (NHV) a high level of autonomy, flexibility and personal satisfaction. It relies on a long term relationship with a woman that builds on her skills, confidence and hope, and values her ability to determine her own future.

The successful applicants will be able to demonstrate an ability to work in community-based primary care services with a focus on preventative health, strengths-based models of care and have an understanding on the unique context of Australian Indigenous health.

The position is based on the Brisbane South Side and the team will provide support to women who live within the catchment areas of the Metro South Health and Hospital Service which includes the three maternity hospitals (Mater Mothers, Redlands and Logan).

Competitive Salary Package will be negotiated based on qualifications, skills and experience with the successful applicant. IUIH provides 17.5% annual leave loading plus salary sacrifice.

Key Duties include

- Assess physical, emotional, social and environmental needs of women and their families as they relate to the ANFPP domains
- Provide education, support and referral resources when assisting women and their families to identify and achieve their stated goals
- Consult and collaborate with other professionals/agencies involved in providing services to women and families
- Collect ANFPP data and inputs into the Data Collection System

Key Requirements include

- Current AHPRA registration as a Registered Nurse or Midwife (applicants with further experience and/or qualifications in community health, mental health, sexual health and/or youth health are desirable)
• Demonstrated ability to work effectively with both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander co-workers and clients
• Current drivers license and current Blue Card (or ability to obtain a Blue Card)

Further information on the Australian Nurse Family Partnership Program can be found on the following website: www.anfpp.com.au

Enquiries about the role can be directed to Sue Kruske at sue.kruske@iuih.org.au

Applications (resume and brief covering letter addressing the key requirements above) are to be submitted via SEEK.

APPLICATIONS CLOSE – 9am on Friday 12 May 2017